In the first half hour of trading we sold all 4 of the Feb 1st 2650 puts that we purchased Friday for a net realized gain of $6,022 right out of the gate. That's because as we mentioned last week, we are trading waves, not necessarily day trading. Friday, it looked like the move up on our 1 minute and 5 minute charts had topped, so we bought puts anticipating the move down Monday – as long as that Jan. 18th high of 2675 held, which it did. Trading the 5 minute stochastic at approx. 10:45 eastern, trading at or near the money puts we bought two Feb 1st 2625 puts and 19.70 in one account, then a couple minutes later bought those same puts in the other account at 17.60. Minutes later we sold 1 at 22.40 and another at 22.90 and held the other two. We were in and out of the market as the trades above illustrate and pocketed over $8,000 in net realized gains in just a couple of hours. We bought two Feb 1st 2625 puts at 14.80 right at the close today.
