Expanding Triangle Projected Wave D High

WWR is projecting the price and time targets for the wave D high. If we extend the upper trend line of the expanding triangle, wave D up will top a Fibonacci 610 days from the orthodox top on September 28, 2019 at S&P 3054. Wave D will gain equality with wave B on August 16, 2019 at S&P 3035. Within the internal wave structure of wave D, the third wave gained exact equality with the first wave at the May 1, 2019 high. The fifth wave will attain exact symmetry with the first and third waves at 3054. WWR moves to a long position in the long term in the Dow, S&P and NASDAQ.

Bonds

We've been anticipating a move up in bonds to our ideal price target area of 152 - 155 which is where wave c gains equality with wave a and a Fibonacci .382 retracement of the entire decline from the July 2016 high to the October 9, 2018 low. See the reprint of our chart from April 7, 2019 below.

Chart above from the 7/10/16 high
 Chart below from the 10/9/18 low

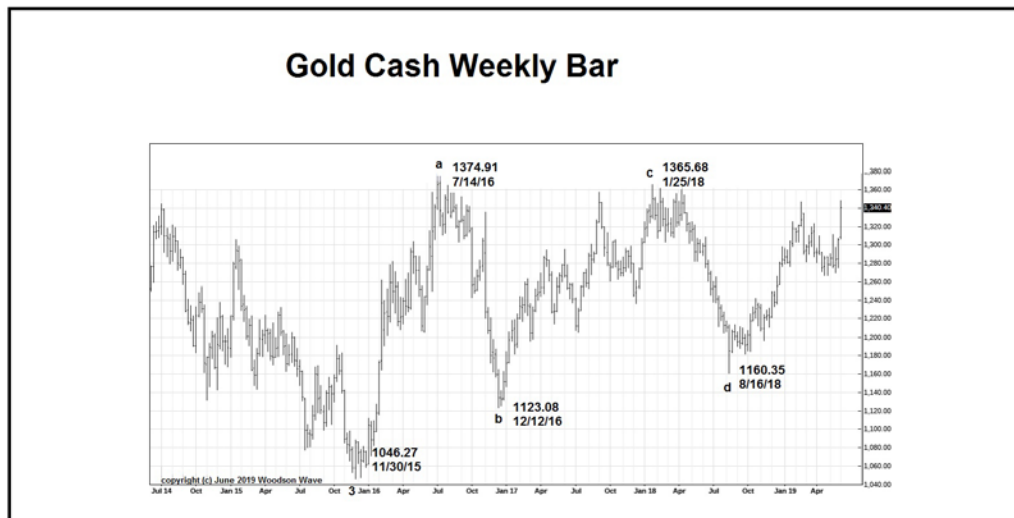

Bonds have reached our ideal upside target price. WWR moves to a short position on bonds. Expect a decline below the 10/9/18 low of 136.33. Reminder a move down in price, indicates a move up in yield.

Gold

 Chart below from the 11/30/15 low

WWR remains short gold. Our long standing wave count remains unchanged. Gold is in a long (almost four years now) sideways trending fourth wave from the $1,046 low registered on 11/30/15. We are removing the “against the 1365 high” for our short position because as gold approaches the wave c high, it is very possible for gold to spike higher than that level in wave e up to complete this fourth wave. Look for this fourth wave to terminate soon, and give way to wave five down to new lows and ultimately below the $1,000 level.
